RECLUSIVE STATE WORKER

A local state worker has inspired and has shown the need for... a brand new fed department.... one which will raise billions in " new revenue ... its call Beinvenue Tournevis .... or in English which sounds a little more droll ..Welcome Screwdriver!

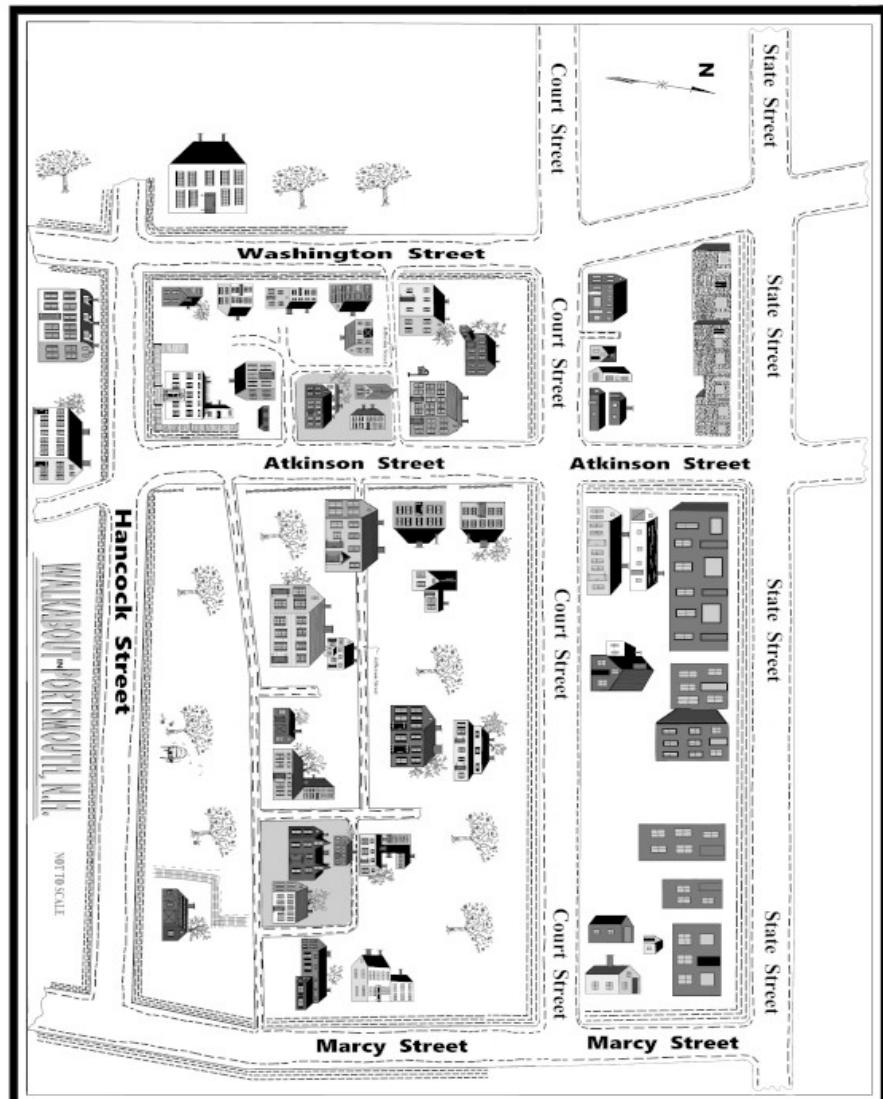

In a an exclusive interview with this worker whose nickname for 40 years has been ..the "brown recluse" .. primarily because he brought his own screwdrivers into work for 40 years... he now owns over 600,000 screwdrivers because he basically had to get a new one just about everyday.

You have no idea how many different screws there are the recluse exclaimed.

Literally in state buildings and items in buildings and equipment under some kind of state operation... millions of different screws!

You never have the right one and sometimes getting one screw out of something can take weeks with thousands of dollars in overtime costs.

The recluse pointed to the wraps over his wrist... the recluse chuckled as he said ..my coworkers almost re-dubbed me the "mummy".. lol.. he went on and on offering his years of "wrist management problems" associated with taking screws out of stuff! He said I got that copper wrist magnet.. I bought tcb rubs but was getting too high to do my job.. couldn't remember which way was loose, had to keep saying "righty tighty" to get the screws out!

One day he came to work with a vest embedded with 4300 different screwdrivers.. A guy pulls out a watch.

Can you get this cover off? He had to go buy a new screwdriver!
Aaaauuugghh he yelled as he drove to best buy.

The new federal funding is building a 10,000 sq ft building to house the new screw driver collection. there's going to be a place for every single screwdriver that has ever existed.... there will be a national board of screwdriver education.. a federal board of screwdriver oversight ... and with funding of over 700 billion dollars the new motto

RIGHTY TIGHTY will live in memoriam!
