Taxes, burden or pleasure?

A new tax may be coming to area residents! Yah! As many of you are aware the Viva Kittery think tank has been hard at work for the community. Their focus, brainstorming new taxes. At first glance these taxes seem oppressive, but upon paying will become a natural part of our community experience. Think of them as taxes we all look forward to.

One of our think tank tax specialists noticed how many people look forward to property taxes and registration taxes. Its a hot topic in the area and many folks who rent and / or who don't own vehicles are literally being robbed of this wholesome community experience.

Some landholders express concern for non tax paying residents by understanding it as a loss of excitement, pride and social status. When the general sense of pride in paying taxes is limited to such persons with property and cars.

Viva Kittery think tank has devised new socially embracing tax in our very own 'Share the Pride of Taxes" program.

This new program is fully funded and is a never ending program of innovative ideas to implement new taxes leading to the ultimate total vision of "Tax Pride Day!"

Viva Kittery investigative reporters interviewed people on the street. Its like heaven on earth one resident said. Others totally agreed, yes it is totally ultimate! Every response from the citizenry contained a sense of disbelief. Some even said, “It sounds unreal”. One person exclaimed OMG!!!!!, when we revealed the new embracing taxes for Tax Pride Day! Viva Kittery chose to interpret all the responses as favorable.

The benefits of this new socially inclusive tax remedy is completely obvious.

1. This tax already has a legal reference.
2. This tax has already acquired a nickname.
3. This is a flat tax of $4200.00 per year.
4. No person will feel left out.

Here's the legal definition:

WE THE PEOPLE, IN A PERPETUAL STATE OF PLANNING.

LET it be known and resolved in all the area and for all time henceforth, that in order to preserve, defend and celebrate the significance of human individualism and the freedom to express any such nature: while dedicating not only in spirit but also in being your own human person, and realizing that no one person can pay taxes except by greater expense, and further noting that the trials of freedom and exploration of human expression as the individual person is of great value alone. Let it be known this Tax code resolution is a viable solution for tax equity. To be remitted for permanent inclusion.

Noting and amending it applies to everyone, 18 years of age and older, who does not own a road worthy registered motor vehicle or real estate. A yearly bill of $4,200 dollars and no cents will be levied for each individual to pay and share in the community.

You are taxed ONLY if you don't own a car or real estate. To be exempt you must own either real estate or a car. No ifs, ands or buts about it!!!

The nickname of this tax is “The Happy Birthday Tax”! This tax gets its nickname because it is due on your birthday. No matter what...

period... no escape “Happy Birthday Taxpayer, you made it!!!” is printed on the tax receipt in color at no extra cost.

STANDATHON

The nation's first STANDATHON is happening right here in the oldest town in Maine. Our own Viva Kittery reporter Crutchin S. Moker is putting this unique event together. One of the foundations to benefit is the Foundation of Greater Awareness, commonly known as FOGA. . We realized that the old fashion telethons to raise money for nobody in particular, but still a worthy cause, are starting to falter. Other fund raisers like selling 5 pound candy bars, cookies made 6 years ago, and other astounding products are no longer pulling the heart strings to get that donation. Crutchin figures that with today's 24 hour satellite observation along with a little help from AI , we can show that you can make money here by standing still, albeit 6 feet apart for the proper social dimension.

Each contestant will be provided a glow in the dark 15 inch diameter hoop to stand in. The contestants will be checked periodically by sky eye satellite to insure no cheating. Each contestant pays only 5 dollars for the hoop. It will start on the first day of summer and will end literally with the last woman or man standing. You must be at least 18 to join the public event but an at home version will be provided for kids (kids hoop only $1.99). You simply stand in one place for as many hours, days or months as you can. There are a lot of opportunities for "off track betting" here. The money raised will be split in the following ways. Three top prizes for the last three people. Of course, FOGA and then the rest of the money will go to a Darn Good cause! Details for this contest will be made public soon!!

This is a particularly good event if you don't have a lot going on.,

EDS is Real

THIS story all started when Nigel Wigglesworth asked a friend for a quick favor.

Acknowledging now that Nigel is now in rehab for 'executive directives syndrome' ...

EDS...and with his express permission we relate the happenings here.

It all started when Nigel said

Yo Bro, can you drive over here and help me get to the store I need something on sale today and my car is not running and I really need to get there. During the ride Nigel learned the guy was great with computer stuff. The very next day Nigel sent a polite email thanking his 'bro" for all he did that day and further insinuating that someday he would return the favor....with Joy.....As we will see, that day was never to come.

During the week there were several quick correspondences and Nigel soon had a websiteone that would have costs thousands of dollars, but through peskerin' and other admitted attributes of like manner the operation was up and running.

Other things came up along the way, like how to keep the site running, how to manage system errors and complicated default codes, as well as how to integrate complicated marketing theories on Nigel's quick base way of thinking..... and then working through the turmoil of results... Y...es by asking for more favors.

One day his friend didn't respond in ten seconds and Nigel was worried and called him. He laughed to himself when found his friend was simply in the bathroom and was soon back at his desk.

About a week later, another lapse occurred for over three hours,Nigel called the police and said he had a friend who had not been well and its been awhile since he had heard from him. Like I said an eternity for Nigel, but in real time it was 3 hours 5 minutes and 33 seconds. The police went over for a ' wellness" check explaining that his dear friend Nigel was very worried. The man was simply taking a nap on his back lawn hammock, as it turned out. On his one day off a year from his full time job.

The man subsequently changed his number that week and explained to all people he could think of that Nigel might inquire of him and that he was fine and simply needed a little space from this Nigel fella.

.... Talk about panicked.

Nigel finally got through to someone, who he knew had to have his friends new number. He explained he was a relative from out of town and was lost on his way to his relatives house at that very moment, but that the old number didn't work. Those people gave Nigel the new number thinking what a wonderful thing that a relative had come to visit from sooo far away.

To shorten the story a little, the man sold his house and moved.

Nigel finding himself in despair contacted the CIA, and with an incredibly elaborate story got them to find the man in about 9 hours!! When the man answered the phone he was unaware that it could possibly be Nigel. Nigel began the conversation... you are a hard man to get a hold of....

The good thing is" ...NIGEL said in rehab... Is that EDS is a real disease so its not like it's just me being weird!@@@

Artificial Stupidity

Radiation therapy may have new possibilities as a cure for another cancerous type of disease..though common but often left untreated claimed Dr. Fognet... Stupidity itself is a leading cause of death worldwide and is now a real disease.

Fognet explained that in the past we thought a great number of people were just stupid and that education was the remedy. But as we followed people for 30 years in a secret study we found that stupid people with high levels of education remained to be stupid their entire life...then we found the genome which when diseased caused this stupidity. We were puzzled at first because the same genome is found in rats but because rats are smart we never linked the two.

Fognet has been in a rush to send out communiques to people in the study who have the stupid disease but Hippo Laws prevent him from getting the word out. He exclaimed that there are high numbers of "stupidly diseased people" high in government office who truly need to be informed that they are stupid and need RADIATION THERAPY to clean out the core of their cerebellum..NOW!!

Fognet exclaimed.. I'm trying my best to break the news in general as a sort of wake up call.. I'm using post cards of Homer Simpson with an arrow at an empty desk ..the card reads ..if you can imagine sitting at this desk next to homer Simpson.. please call this number ...

1 800 i might be stupid

And you can start free trials of radiation therapy in less than two weeks. There's nothing to be ashamed of now Fognet nodded.. its a disease in which you have no choice but its seemingly curable now.

Our reporter asked Fognet what pushed this study ahead so quickly and Fognet responded quickly. We have had access to scientific type questions being asked to AI and found that the high number of stupid questions often came from government offices! So we were funded to expand the program and find a solution.. which we did!

Quasi-nauseate

Viva Kittery's very own "quasi-nauseamist", Brandford Fricks, a relative term that can be applied to anything ..almost..anyway..

Brandford Fricks has determined that what people call thought might be impossible.

Well, Branford stated.. there are a number of reasons under quasi-nauseation that allow that thought might not be possible at all and that people are regulated by a series of events and transmissions outside of their control and are simply susceptible to a greater need or purpose other than.. "something palpable".. that they would think on their own.

"Its an interesting hypothesis" Branford continued..but not to compromise the possibility of human thought but to perhaps narrowly define it to such a degree that the only possibility of thought relies on input only....which he states.. "it might be"!

And he says...that nauseates me!

Branford continues that there are far more nauseating realities than pleasing ones and further if someone finds a pleasing situation it is a viable contention that so many other people will be nauseated by it that's its unreal really.

Here are some examples of the trillions of possible nauseating realities that other people find pleasing.

We can't say number one, but we are anyway because when you get into infinite combinations that itself is nauseating! Branford chuckled as he said this..but number one as follows is an example.

Number one.. here you go he says.. some people like a bowl of cheerios with chocolate milk ..cinnamon and a dollop of cottage cheese..but most people find it nauseating!

Number two.. some people like to drink coffee that has been in the car for three days and has been used to " lightly dip" the burn end of cigarettes to put them out before throwing out window. And drinking the coffee happily... nauseating!

However in rare occasions the person forgets he has been dropping the butts in as a "safe tray" and takes a big swig by mistake. Allowing a small portion of coffee and old cigs into his throat before re-fluxing it out..And that is actually NAUSEATING and everyone would agree.

But which of these experiences required thought Branford said. None out of two required thought .. so an infinite series of expressions to prove thought would require two or more unique non nauseating situations for a pleasant experience to occur..at least thoughtfully.

Next he brought up artistic expression..and relates that art well accepted as valuable in the future usually is hated by or nauseates the people in the present time of its production, only to be appreciated and loved in the future. Quite frankly Branford added.. this fact in itself is nauseating!

Branford put his series down in front of his audience but said.. I cant go with this analysis..its simply nauseating..

And the list goes on that the thought of the day..the height of society no matter what it is..always nauseates people later in time. HOW can anyone think about it Branford said.. most people in the audience yelled out...you cant think about it!! You just cant think about it @@

Branford ended his remarks.. Life is too short to think about.. and that's just nauseating!@
